SHIELD-AI™

Buyer's Journey Bridge

How the two SHIELD-AI™ slide decks work together

THE TWO-DECK STRATEGY

📊 DECK 1: BUSINESS DECISION MAKERS

Audience: CISO, CRO, COO, CIO, GC, Board

Goal: Secure budget and executive

💻 DECK 2: TECHNICAL SME DEEP DIVE

Audience: AI engineers, security architects, AI leads, platform engineers, compliance specialists

Goal: Drive technical

THE BUYER'S JOURNEY

❶ AWARENESS

Trigger event: incident, regulator inquiry, peer breach

❷ EXECUTIVE BUY-IN

Deck 1 presented to CISO/Board -- budget approved

❸ FIRST ENGAGEMENT

SHIELD-AI posture assessment -- low commitment, establishes the baseline

❹ TECHNICAL KICKOFF

Deck 2 with SME team -- architecture, controls, implementation

❺ DELIV ASSUR

Fu implem -- L3 m and b

💡 Key insight: The gap between Step 2 (budget) and

SUGGESTED ENGAGEMENT FLOW

WEEK 1

Executive meeting

Deck 1 to CISO + decision-makers

30 minutes -> decision to

WEEKS 2-4

Posture assessment

Assessment + report + board briefing

WEEK 5

Technical kickoff

Deck 2 to SMEs

Architecture + control planning

WEEKS 6-20

Full implementation

Deploy controls to L3 maturity

ONGOING

Assurance

Continuous monitoring + quarterly reviews

HOW TO PRESENT EACH DECK

📊 PRESENTING DECK 1 (BUSINESS)

- Start with the "Why Now" story -- the gut punch, not the framework
- Use the 2×2 quadrant to show positioning in 5 seconds
- Let the business case table speak for itself -- stop and let them read
- Mention blind peer

💻 PRESENTING DECK 2 (TECHNICAL)

- Start at the reference architecture (slide 3) -- this is the anchor
- Skip slides that aren't relevant to the audience (e.g., skip MCP if they don't use it)
- Use the alternatives comparison slide to handle "we already use

OBJECTION HANDLING CHEAT SHEET

Objection	Who Says It	Response	Which Deck
"We already have ISM compliance"	CISO	ISM has no AI-specific controls. SHIELD-AI maps every control to ISM IDs -- you're	Both

READY TO PRESENT

SHIELD-AI v1.17 -- October 1, 2026

Security Architecture Practice

Contact: practice-lead@consultancy.example.com